

Publishing Your Novel in A Few Easy Steps

Learn about the Publishing Industry with Accomplished Young Adult Author Jackson Pearce!

Saturday, April 12, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. NE/SO Library

Navigating the publishing world is tough—the Internet is full of bad, old or flat-out confusing information! In this course we'll break it all down and discuss the entire traditional publication process—from writing queries and short summaries to how advances and royalties work. A must for anyone hoping to publish their novel some day! Two hours of information-packed knowledge about the publishing world.

Open to All Teen and Adult Writers:
New and Experienced.

Jackson Pearce is the 2014 Friends of the Northeast/Spruill Oaks Author-in-Residence. She is 28 years old and currently lives in Atlanta, Georgia.

In her late teens, Jackson began writing for publication. Her first book, As You Wish, sold to Harper Collins when she was 22 years old. There are currently four books in her series of retold fairytales—Sisters Red, Sweetly, Fathomless and Cold Spell (released in the fall of 2013). She has also written a contemporary novel called Purity. You can visit Jackson online at www.jacksonpearce.com.

Sponsored by The Friends of the NE/Spruill Oaks Library
In Partnership with Southern Breeze & The Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators (SCBWI)

Northeast/Spruill Oaks Library

A Part of the Atlanta-Fulton Public Library System
9560 Spruill Road, Johns Creek, GA 30022

REGISTRATION REQUIRED: Call (770) 360-8820 or email karen.swenson@fultoncountyga.gov

